Our partnership is a multi-skilled practice, operating in the public, charitable, education and social enterprise sectors.

Project Management

Our partners are currently working on the management of a number of projects – operating in a North London borough, for example, supporting the delivery of a cluster of children's centres.

Early Years

Our team contains educationalists with experience at headship level – experiences that integrate into our approach to development in both childcare and education projects.

Childcare

Passionately committed to the childcare agenda, our partners work across the public and private sector, utilising all our resources, to enhance provision for clients and communities.

Children's books and literacy

We are passionate about our delivery of community libraries, book and author events and the growth of our City Stories project – bringing children's books to new areas.

We aim to make our project events and children's books free at the point of delivery.

Community projects

We donate time and resources to a number of charity and community organisations – from environmental projects to emergent children's charities. We strive to translate our practice into practical developmental benefit for these organisations.

Community business

We are committed to social enterprise and the use of community business concepts to deliver growing sustainability.

We recognise that funding and revenue generation must co-exist for growing community businesses.

Governance & Funding

Several of our partners are board members of national and regional organisations - across childcare, education and children's charities. We use this experience to help others develop too.

Examples of recent partnership developments and projects in 2009

We have been engaged to design, create and host a series of complex web-sites for children's centres.

Keyed into all the current client agendas, the sites must have accessible and up to date information and mechanisms to consult and interact with parents, carers and children.

Commissioned to deliver new projects around literacy and children's books.

The projects seek to engage children with authors and illustrators, but also to help deliver children's book groups in communities – to make the excitement and imagination durable.

Our project team now includes a graphic designer – helping to create high quality project identities for clients, but also supporting our print, web and communication services for our customers.
